Easter Seal Campaign This Month

Some 20 "Neighborhood Professionals" will continue canvassing area communities throughout March in a fund-raising effort for Easter Seals.

Realtor-associates from Century 21-River Country Real Estate, Inc., 5688 M-72 West, Route 4, Grayling, are conducting a door-to-door canister campaign through March 31 in Grayling, Frederic, Lovells and all Crawford County townships.

Most of the 288 local Century 21 offices in the state are working to surpass the total of $50,000 they raised for Easter Seals last year. The Grayling area made a significant contribution toward the total collected for Easter Seals by all participating Century 21 offices last year.

The 1981 Easter Seals Telethon is scheduled March 28 and 29.

Tax Sale List In This Issue

This edition of the Avalanche contains the Michigan State Treasurer's petition to the Circuit Court in Grayling asking for authority to sell at public sale various parcels of land in Crawford County that are alleged to be delinquent for taxes in 1978 and prior years.

The petition includes a listing and description of such real estate parcels. The petition also asks the court for a decree designating the first Tuesday in May at 10 a.m. as the time of the sale of such properties delinquent for 1978 taxes.

Also the petition instructs persons who desire to contest liens for taxes, interest and charges to file their objections with the clerk of the court on or before the first day of the court's April term.

The list this week appears on pages 4 and 5 in Section B.

The tax list will appear in this and the next two issues of the Avalanche.

Funding Approved For Grayling's McNamara Field

Grayling's McNamara Airport was one of six in Michigan receiving approval for funding by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission at its bimonthly meeting held in Lansing last week.

According to the Michigan Department of Transportation, $42,000, half in state and half in local funds, will go toward purchase and installation of Visual Approach Slope Indicator (VASI-2) and Runway Identification (REIL) systems.

A loan was also approved to supplement the local share for the airport lighting system at the airport, $18,900 state funds to supplement $2,000 in local funds.

Houghton Lake Man Hurt In Truck Mishap

A 32-year old Houghton Lake man was injured Monday morning about 10:30 a.m. when the tractor-trailer he was driving careened across the M-93, Military Road intersection and plunged down an embankment.

According to sheriff's deputies, Darryl Peterson was transported by county ambulance to Grayling's Mercy Hospital for treatment but no report was available on his condition.

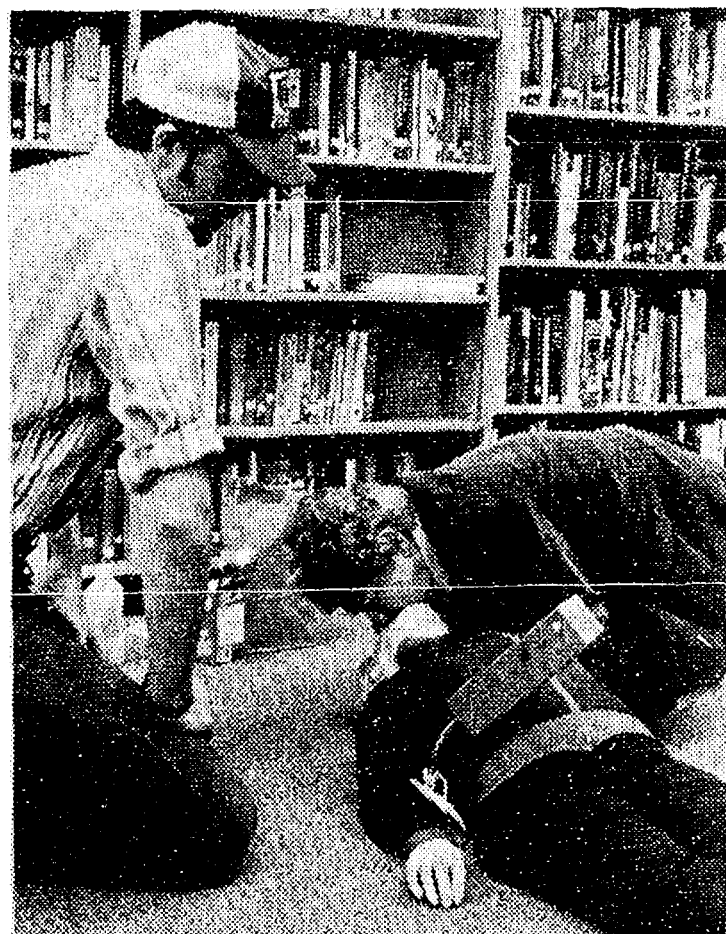

A passenger in the vehicle was uninjured and the accident is still under investigation by police.

In other police activity, deputies made nine DUII arrests last week, one involving a suspect carrying a concealed weapon.

Eleven breaking and enterings were reported during the period, along with seven larcenies, two involving thefts from vehicles.

In all, 87 complaints were logged, including nine complaints handed out by animal control officers.

Thirteen traffic violations were noted and a myriad of other reports mark the police blotter for the period. The ambulance made eight emergency runs during the week.

CONDUCT LIFE-SAVING COURSE—Forty-two students, including all the employees of Dial-A-Ride, recently completed a CPR Basic Life Support course conducted by members of the Volunteer Ambulance Corps.

Twenty-six students were in the course for the first time. According to an ambulance corps spokesman, another course will be offered later this year. (Joe Schrader photo)

Cancer Society Planning Crusade

The Crawford County Unit of the American Cancer Society Board of Directors met Feb. 19th at the Grayling State Bank.

An Ostomy group was started in this area this year.

Our Crusade Chairman Marie Ellingboe will be moving away, Valarie Lehti will be the new chairman. Sorry to see Marie go but know Valarie will do a good job. Our goal this year is $447.00. The Kick-Off Luncheon will be Thursday, April 30th at 12:00 Noon at Chief Shoppenagons.

Public Education Chairman Rose Duley has given some week long programs at the High School with emphasis on smoking and breast self examination. Film strip kits for lower levels will be going to Middle School and Frederic.

Loan Closet inventory was given. Beds, walkers, crutches, Porta lifts, wheelchairs, commodes, canes, neck braces, respirator, step stool, trapeze bars and bed pans are available for these in need. Shirley Rauch is chairman.

Discussed what result the newly formed United Way would have on our Crusade. The Cancer Society does not participate in this because our Crusade is our time to educate the public.

County Faces CETA Job Rollback

by Joe Schrader

The elimination of ten public service CETA jobs in Crawford County last month was included in overall cutbacks announced recently by the Northeast Michigan Manpower Consortium in Onaway, the agency responsible for administering the federal jobs program.

According to Carolyn Suffield, Crawford County CETA Director, the cutbacks have reduced the number of public service jobs to about 40, down from last summer's peak when almost 100 were employed here on the program.

The job reduction represents a slash of $40,000 previously earmarked for Crawford County in fiscal year 1981 under the provisions of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973. Ms. Suffield said funding for Title VI jobs was eliminated completely and the number of Title IID jobs face a probable further reduction in June of this year, although no exact estimate has been announced.

Of the ten jobs cut February 10, three were at Grayling's McNamara Airport, where the county agreed to transfer two of the positions to their payroll rather than face closing of the facility. CETA jobs were eliminated at other locations including Grayling High School, Frederic Township, Sheriff's Department, Dial-a-Ride and Commission on Aging.

Twenty-three employees still remain on Title IID jobs and another 21 continue to work on CETA projects in the county, although phaseout of the latter group will begin May 1 and continue until September 30 when all are expected to go.

The employees are currently working on projects at Camp Grayling and No. Higgins Lake State Park, and on jobs with the county energy assistance program, day care center and school safety program.

Local officials have adopted a "wait and see" stance following President Reagan's announcement February 18 that drastic cuts were planned in subsidized job programs.

The recent moves seem consistent with the President's aim and appear to represent a shift in funding from subsidized employment programs to specialized occupational training and on-the-job training programs.

Currently in Crawford County, fourteen workers are employed in the private sector in OJT slots and another ten are attending school on funding provided by CETA.

Fish Hatchery Fate Worries Sportsmen

Can It Be Preserved?

by Joe Schrader

Confirmed reports that the Department of Natural Resources plans to fill in the ponds and raceways at the old fish hatchery here has rekindled local efforts to save the historic Grayling landmark from possible extinction.

Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce Executive Duanne Swift said a couple of proposals were being studied, including a scheme to develop the site into a museum of canoeing and fishing history. Swift even envisions that bringing back the now-extinct freshwater sailfish, the grayling, may even be a workable idea now that the environmental efforts have restored the specie's pristine habitat.

DNR Regional Supervisor Jerry Manz of Roscommon acknowledged that department plans include filling in ponds and raceways at the hatchery, but was unable to give a timetable on when the work might be accomplished. "We don't have the time or the money right now," he said. Manz also confirmed that one of the DNR's long-range objectives is to move the field office operations to a new facility across the street, but said that probability was at least "five or ten years down the road."

The landmark structure, once the focal point of tourist attention in the Grayling area, has fallen victim in recent years to the ravages of Father Time and lack of attention, and no longer serves as an attraction like it did when people longed to see the trophy-size breeder fish maintained in its holding ponds.

People still call regularly for information on the hatchery which was decommissioned for good in 1975. "We have to tell them that it is no longer in operation," a Chamber of Commerce spokesperson said.

The recent DNR reports have revived efforts on the part of concerned local sportsmen to restore the site to a position of economic and historic value to the area.

The Department of Labor's

Economic Impact Report, prepared last year, identifies the fish hatchery as a facility which offers major potential as a tourist attraction if it were to be reopened and restocked with display specimens of large trout.

Sportsmen are also toying with a second idea that would utilize the second floor of the field office for a fly fishing and canoeing museum, featuring historic examples of early fishing techniques, fly rods, reels and flies dating to the time when the AuSable River was a mecca throughout the eastern United States for Grayling and later, brook trout fishermen.

Sportsmen feel examples of early AuSable riverboats, a locally unique form of water vessel, might be displayed there as well as examples stretching from early canoes to modern day recreational and racing designs.

A local independent study group, calling itself the Grayling Fish Hatchery Committee and headed by Bob Smock, Jr., has also prepared a six-page proposal to submit to the DNR that calls for reopening of the fish hatchery as a productive part of the community. The proposal notes that consideration is being given to creation of a private, non-profit

Sets Committees

United Way Seeks Agencies

by Joe Schrader

Three community organizations have submitted formal requests, and preliminary interest has been shown by a number of others, in becoming participating agencies in the newly-formed United Way, Inc. of Crawford County.

The requests were acknowledged when the UW Board of Directors met last Friday to resume organizational plans leading to a planned fund drive campaign later this year.

Treasurer Duanne Swift advised the Board that Boy Scouts of America, Youth Services Bureau and N.E. Michigan Halfway House, Inc., had asked to become participating agencies and had identified specific amounts of funding for the Boards consideration.

United Way Board President Cheryl Hall made the following committee appointments at Friday's session. Sherry Hanson was appointed to the Executive Committee and Pete Allen, Ernie Dawson and Joe Schrader will form the Publicity and Education Committee. Admissions and Budget Committee members include Cynthia Sparks, Bill Ruddy and

Roscommon Free Throws Topple Vikes, 64-54

by Joe Schrader

Grayling's trek through March Madness came to an abrupt dead end Saturday night when the Vikes faced crosstown-rival Roscommon in the District Finals at Houghton Lake.

The squad did a complete flip-flop after two outstanding games against Tawas and Whittemore-Prescott to gain the finals, dropping a disappointing, 64-54 decision that gave the Bucks the District Crown, for the second year in succession.

Coach Butch Hayes blamed the loss on the team's inability to dictate the tempo of the game. "We were hampered by early fouls and lost our poise late in the contest," the coach lamented.

But on a brighter note, Hayes said "the team had a really fine year and the kids have a lot to be proud of, but it was a tough way to bow out."

Officials signaled 44 fouls against the Vikes Saturday, bringing cries of outrage from local fans offended by the lopsided foul ratio. Grayling meantime went to the foul stripe on only 13 occasions, canning eight for 61%.

The Bucks meshed 30 foul attempts in their 44 tries for 75%, give them a distinct, 31 point advantage at the stripe.

Rosco crept to a slim, 18-16 lead at the 1st quarter mark but the Viking squad came back to claim a one point halftime advantage, 34-33.

But a third quarter scoring blitz by Roscommon gave the Bucks a nine point lead going into the final eight minutes of action. The Vikes were outscored 17-7, frequently missing on field attempts that could have kept the game close.

And when starters Bill Roach, Eric Batway and Brad Trenary all were sidelined by fouls, the Viking hopes for a comeback went along with them as Grayling failed repeatedly to mount a game-saving rally.

Grayling outscored Rosco from the field, hitting 23 of 58 attempts for 40% while the Bucks were 41% on a 17 for 41 combination.

But the Bucks controlled the tempo, the boards and the foul advantage to earn their way into Regional play Wednesday night against Boyne City.

Roach led Grayling's offense with 20 points and Batway managed double figures with 12. Trenary chipped in with 8. See Vikes on Page 9

Shell Begins 2nd Pigeon Drilling

GAYLORD—Shell Oil Company announced it has made an oil and gas discovery with the State Charlton 1-10 well drilled in the Pigeon River Country State Forest.

Shell also said that it will begin drilling the second well in its 1981 program of oil and gas development in the state forest.

Known as the State Charlton 7-4, the well is targeted to be directionally drilled to a depth of 5,000 feet. It is located near five other wells in the state forest which have been producing oil and gas since the early 1970s. It will be used as part of a gas injection project. A Shell spokesman reported it will take about two to three weeks to drill to the targeted depth.

A fun filled surprise will be in store throughout the game. "Who are these brave ones?" "Will Cal Walls win the badge of courage or be ticketed for unnecessary loudness?" Back again by popular demand—Robert Harris and his Jazz Band will be your entertainment for half time.

Will the Scout fathers bring home the trophy once again? Be there and see for yourself.

House Call: Flooding

The big thaw may signal the coming of spring, but it also can spell trouble. If your basement is subject to flooding, there's danger ahead unless you know what precautions to take.

Caution is the key word in stepping into a flooded basement. Beware of electrical circuits and escaping gas. It's best to have your utility company check out the receptacles, heating unit, and appliances before you touch them. Don't handle anything until you know it's safe, and don't light a match. Gas could be escaping. Shutting off the power to the basement area may be a good idea until you determine the condition of your appliances.

When the flood waters recede, your work begins. Wash down the floor and walls while the basement is draining or being pumped dry. Use warm or hot water, disinfect with Lysol or chlorine solution, and wash cupboards, work benches, and whatever else is down there. You can safely use 8 tablespoons or a half-cup of bleach for each gallon of water. For ventilation open the windows or turn on a fan, if it's safe to do so. Remember that everything touched by the floodwaters is contaminated or polluted, often from water backing up through the sanitary sewer.

Discard vegetables stored in sacks or bins that come in contact with the flood waters, as well as the contents of a freezer when the lid is submerged and water enters the compartment. You might salvage food in a freezer if the electricity is off for no more than 72 hours and the food has not reached a temperature of 40 degrees F. or above. Under that circumstance the food could be refrozen, but the flavor and texture would probably be damaged.

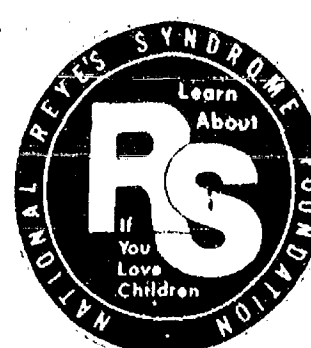

Canned food in jars and metal containers with airtight lids might be saved, but their outside surfaces must be thoroughly cleansed. The thought to remember is better safe than sorry. When in doubt, throw it out.

Clothing, rugs, and furniture might be salvaged, if they are not too badly damaged. Dry them in the sun, clean and disinfect them. That means shampoo rugs and furniture, and wash or dry clean clothes.

Let's hope the big thaw remains on the outside. Cleaning up after flooding is doing the spring cleaning the hard way.

Aluminum Care
Avoid leaving food standing in an aluminum vessel longer than necessary. Minerals in food cause pitting of aluminum.

Hear the Band

This week the candles that the band members sold came in. Students have been delivering them and collecting money for them all week. The sale was a big success for us. We were trying to raise $1200.00 for new summer uniforms. In total we were able to bring in about $1600.00. We feel the new uniforms will benefit us greatly. As of right now, the uniforms have not been ordered, but we are in the process of picking out a design that will be to our liking.

This past Saturday, March 7th, a Junior High Band Festival was held at the high school. Bands from all over Northern Michigan attended the Festival with the first band playing at 7:30 a.m. We have not yet received the results of the competition, but we will be sure to fill you in, in our next article. The Senior Band spent the week previous to the Festival preparing for it and feel that it was a big success.

February 28th, the Senior Band had a Band Festival in Traverse City. Weeks of preparation went into the competition and our band played at 8:30 Saturday morning. The band received a rating of III (3) for the Festival but all felt we could have done better.

National Employ The Older Worker Week March 8-14

Americans are generally very resource-conscious, but too often one of our greatest resources, the older worker, goes unnoticed.

March 8 marks the beginning of National Employ the Older Worker Week, and during that week Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) Job Service offices will give special attention to the employment needs of Michigan's senior workers.

Employers can help spread the word that "ability is indeed ageless." Age has little impact on a worker's ability to perform on a job.

There are far too many myths about older workers that question their ability to perform on the job. Years of experience have made many older workers invaluable in terms of the kind of contributions an employer seeks from workers.

Older workers bring a certain amount of knowledge to a job because of many years of past work experience. They are certainly more mature in their approach to the job than many of their younger counterparts, and you can usually expect a high level of job performance from them.

The U.S. Department of Labor has defined older workers as those workers 40 years of age and older. Statistics have shown that usually at the age of 40 workers often begin to experience their first bitter taste of age discrimination.

Older workers are not close-minded to new job techniques and responsibilities. In fact, they generally welcome a challenge with a great deal of enthusiasm. They may not be able to run as fast as younger people, but they can certainly work efficiently in most job situations. All they need is a second chance.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

Humanism's Goal of One World Government

Humanism is using liberal religions to help promote a one world socialist government. In testimony before the Un-American Activities Committee of the House on Feb. 26, 1966, counsel Richard Arens said, "Thus far, in the leadership of the National Council of Churches, we have found over 100 persons in leadership capacity with either Communist-front records or records of service to Communist causes. The aggregate affiliations of the leadership, instead of being in the hundreds as the chairman first indicated, is now, according to our latest count, in the thousands, and we have yet to complete our check..." My friend, the leadership of most religious denominations in America was already sold out to communism 15 years ago according to this government report.

British historian Dr. Edward Norman stated the same for the world churches represented by the World Council of Churches: "The churches are now ranged in support of the enemies of capitalism. Faced with the movements for social revolution in the developing nations of the world, they identify the traditional Christian obligation of concern for the welfare of others with the most skilled Marxist devices to attract liberal and humanitarian consciences to the cause of world revolution." He went on to say of this World Council, "It is an enemy of capitalism; in the long term, it may even prove to have been one of the forces making for the extinction of religion as well as freedom."

How does the World Council of Churches justify violence in world revolution? Their General Board said, "The committee proposes the recognition that there is an ethical distinction to be made between the violence used by the oppressor and that used by the oppressed. The distinction is clear in the goals sought or achieved." To put that in plain English, the killing of capitalist missionaries in Mozambique, Rhodesia or Angola is not really violence. Allan Shaw, a British Methodist delegate to the W.C.C. stated it this way, "Terrorists in southern Africa are motivated by love, not hate." Eugene Carson Blake described the aid to the terrorists as, "the greatest evangelistic influence there is in our times to win belief in Jesus Christ." Blake is a leader in both the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches.

Dorothea Soelle, founder of Christians for Socialism, while teaching theology at Union Theological Seminary in New York said, "We are at the beginning of a new chapter in Christian history. It will not be written without Karl Marx." The Methodist Federation for Social Action has declared, "...our hopes move in the direction of socialism."

Who pays for this terrorist killing in the name of Jesus Christ and world socialism? Half of the initial grant to support the terrorist project came from a large Methodist denomination in the United States. (adv.)

International Year of Disabled Persons

The United Nations General Assembly has designated 1981 as the International Year of Disabled Persons in order to encourage the rehabilitation of an estimated 450 million handicapped people in the world. Michigan Rehabilitation Services (MRS) has assisted over 250,000 Michigan workers with handicaps into employment.

Michigan Rehabilitation Services is a state and federally funded agency designated to provide services to any individual who has a physical, mental or emotional handicap which interferes with the ability to earn a living. Services provided by MRS to eligible clients include medical and vocational evaluations, job training, placement and follow-up in accordance with their individual rehabilitation plans.

The Alpena District Office of MRS is coordinating special activities to promote public awareness during the International Year of the Disabled. Along with press releases and letters to employers about IYDP and the benefits of hiring the handicapped, community events being planned include asking mayors to make a special proclamation for IYDP and to spend a day in a wheelchair around their towns in order to demonstrate the need for barrier-free improvements, special recognition on a territorial basis honoring outstanding employers of the handicapped, and a fund raising activity to benefit disabled persons.

Anyone interested in applying for MRS or participating in IYDP should call the Alpena District Office at 517-354-3108 or contact Judy Wagner at the Gaylord Sub-Office at 732-2449.

To Show New Zealand

Law Enforcement Photographer
To Appear In Grayling

On Thursday evening, March 26, Robert E. O'Reilly will be appearing at the Joseph Stripe Auditorium as the next speaker of the annual Travel and Adventure Series sponsored by the Community School Office. Mr. O'Reilly will be showing his colorful documentary of the island nation of New Zealand.

Mr. O'Reilly attended the University of Notre Dame majoring in Mechanical Engineering. In 1942 he enlisted in the Army Air Force and upon graduation from Armament and Chemical Warfare School at Yale University, he was commissioned 2nd Lieutenant. In 1964 he began his own photography business and also

Mr. O'Reilly is well known in the law enforcement field. He has been with the sheriff's department of Allen County, Indiana since 1950 and at present is Lieutenant in the Sheriff's Reserve as Training Officer. Parents
Helping Children

Parents can help their children learn new words at home with some very easy methods. This is important because a good vocabulary often helps kids read better in school. There have also been studies done that show that people with higher paying jobs have large vocabularies.

The first method is to simply talk to your child and use new words. Sometimes it's hard to believe, but they really do want to learn from you. After all you're the first teacher your child ever had.

The second thing is to listen to what they have to say. It means a lot when kids know that you care enough to really listen to what they have to say. It makes them feel important. They also can tell when you're not really listening to them.

Encourage them to look up new words. Older children can start a word file. If you show how proud you are of that growing stack of new words your child knows, even a dictionary becomes exciting.

Vikingland
Happenings

The students in advanced chemistry have the opportunity to participate in a field trip. Approximately fifteen students will be leaving Thursday, April 2 after school for Toronto, Canada. They will tour the science center there, view the CN Tower, and possibly visit the zoo. They will travel on to Niagara Falls, and return home Sunday, April 5. The cost of this trip is approximately forty dollars per person, some of which has been raised through bake sales. Lacey Stephan is organizing the trip and will accompany the students there.

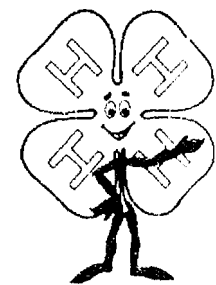

There is a coaching class being offered at the high school to prepare students for taking the ACT (American College Testing Program) test, which will be given March 28 in Gaylord or at Kirtland Community College. The class will be held on all Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:00-9:00 p.m. and all Saturday mornings from 9:00-12:00, prior to the day of the actual test. The cost of the class is twenty-five dollars, which includes an ACT workbook and twenty-one hours of instruction. Nancy Lemmen (English) and Mike Dean (Mathematics) will be the instructors. This is the first time a program has been offered for ACT test-taking students and was devised by a committee consisting of teachers and counselors. The class will entail problem-solving, test-taking tips, and homework from the ACT workbook. The class is expected to be highly beneficial in improving students' test-taking procedures and their final scores.

Funds Available
For Conservation
Projects

Farmers and landowners in both Roscommon and Crawford counties are reminded that funds are available for a variety of conservation practices installed under the guidelines of the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP). From 50 to 75 percent of the cost to install good conservation practices can be reimbursed to approved applicants under the ACP program administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). Eligible practices include: tree planting, timberstand improvement, windbreaks, wildlife habitat, shallow water areas for wildlife and the establishment of permanent vegetative cover. Applications for these and other practices can be filed at the Roscommon-Crawford ASCS office, located at 409 Lake Street in Roscommon, Ph. 517-275-5231.

Thomas Bluhm, manager of the Roscommon-Crawford ASCS office, explained that all applications for cost sharing are reviewed and approved by a farmer elected county committee in each county. March 16th is the end of the initial sign up period for 1981 practices. Bluhm then remarked, "the ACP program has been in existence since the 1930's and attempts to deal with agricultural related pollution and soil loss as well as the encouragement of wildlife habitat and good management of our private forestlands. Basically the program seeks to accomplish its goals by providing financial assistance and technical advice where needed so that private landowners are able to install good conservation measures. In both Crawford and Roscommon counties controlling soil loss is important because of the many rivers and streams that have their headwaters in the area. We also use the program to promote better woodland management for the vast acreage in the area that are forested. We feel the program has worked well in the past but we still see a lot of conservation work in the area that needs to be done and all landowners have a duty to use their land wisely."

"Cooperative Extension Service programs are open to all without regard to race, color, national origin or sex."

by Sue Louchart

Hi! I'm Chris Clover here with news from the Crawford County 4-H Clubs.

The Reye's Syndrome Bowl-A-Thon 4-H'ers sure did a great job of bowling. The Friday and Saturday leagues came through with flying colors. The scores are not final yet but it looks good. The Friday league named the Little Rascals have lived up to their name by being the highest it looks like with about $500 for R.S. The other two leagues the Pen Pals have about $400 and the Early Birds around $300. The extra week of practice and extra time to get sponsors signed up really shows.

Next week when the scores are finalized and the winners of the bowling balls are known we will have the final total of money taken in along with the names of the winners. Tawas had better watch out for our 4-H'ers at the Tournament this month. The kids will bowl the other leagues right out of town. Good luck 4-H'ers in Tawas!

Our 4-H swimming program for this winter will come to an end this Monday and Tuesday, March 16th and 17th. Words can not be said enough for the appreciation for the using of the Hospitality House pool for the program and to Miss Jean and her fine helpers. Without the pool and the staff many of the 4-H'ers would not have been able to learn swimming skills this year.

We have received an okay from Pine Knoll Campground to use their pool for the summer swimming program. Details are being worked out. Every child who completed the winter swimming program will be considered first and will be contacted when the details are finalized. We hope to be able to get Miss Jean and her staff to work the summer program if possible. If there is anyone else who would like to help with the summer program contact Ann at the office or Miss Jean.

Do you like to "clown around"? A Clown Club is being organized to learn the act of clowning and make-up, how to put on a happy face, be a white face clown or a hobo clown. When the members have had some practice in the club they will then visit the schools, churches and other organizations in the community to perform. If you would like to be a clown or help others learn the art of clowning let Ann know.

If singing is more to your liking a Youth Community Choir is being started for 8-12 year olds. We have a leader but a pianist is needed. If you would like to be in this choir or can play the piano for the group please let Ann know.

Another club that needs some help to get started is the Gymnastics Club. Because of the technical skills learned and educational training of the nearly 26,000 volunteers who work in 4-H, and the related educational impact on parents and communities, the 4-H program is a significant adult and youth educational experience. Adult volunteers often gain as much or more as the members with whom they work. The professional 4-H staff members work to provide the climate for leader growth and development. Their success in meeting the challenge of recruiting, training, and supporting has increased 23% since 1969.

With spring around the corner (hopefully) it's getting time to think about 4-H camp at Camp Timbers at West Branch. Letters about the camp will be going out soon. Also Exploration Days is coming up. More details hopefully next week.

If anyone would like to join one or more of the many clubs or start a new club just call the 4-H Office at 348-5123 and let Ann know. Look for me next week with more news about the clubs and what's new in 4-H. See you!

Labels for Education Contest

The Labels for Education contest ended February 20, 1981. Our goal was 33,000. But we went over 35,000. It was sponsored by Campbell Soup Company. The winner was Miss Williams' kindergarten classes. They reached 3,481. Thank you people of the world. We received labels from Michigan, Florida, Texas, New York, Massachusetts, and Saudi Arabia and other places of the world. Some of the things that Grayling Elementary School won with the soup labels are science equipment, cassette recorder, materials for study of the world and the United States, and a microscope which will project on a screen. Written by Dusty Smith and Janet Petrosky, 4th grade.

Junior Deputy Program

On March 3, the fourth grade went to Junior Deputy in the gym. Deputy Paul Smith told us about snowmobiling and he answered people's questions. Deputy Joellen Bonnington showed us the inside of a police car and how the siren and everything worked. It was fun. Shown left to right are Deputy Joellen Bonnington, Amy Ashton, and Lisa Moggo. ### Special Seminar on Military March 27th

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Northern Michigan Congressmen Bob Davis today announced that a special seminar on how to do business with the U.S. Military and other government agencies will be held later this month in Petoskey. Businessmen from the Northern Michigan area will be invited to the one-day seminar, sponsored by Davis in cooperation with the Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce. The seminar will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, March 27, at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey.

Experts from the military and other federal agencies will be on hand to tell local businessmen what kinds of products are sought by agencies, how to find out what bids are being advertised, how to prepare a bid and what to do once a contract is awarded. Products solicited by the government include chemicals, textiles, electronic equipment, medical supplies, garments, manufacturing equipment, etc.

In addition, businessmen will also learn details about a special $3.4 billion federal program aimed at targeting defense procurement contracts to businesses in high unemployment areas, such as Northern Michigan.

Participating in the seminar will be members of the Defense Logistics Agency, the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission and the Northeast Midwest Congressional Coalition.

Davis will be the featured speaker during a luncheon at the seminar.

"Even though the federal government is facing certain budget limitations, the military intends to spend more," Davis said. "I think that with our area facing unemployment problems, it's important to help our businesses learn how to take advantage of military procurement programs, and how to secure other government contracts as well."

For further information and reservations, businessmen can call the Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce at (616) 347-4150.

Grayling Elementary School News

by Jill Brackenbury, Heather Watts, and Kelly Springer, 5th grade.

Miss Williams' kindergarten has a girl who went to the dentist. Her name is Sarah Mleck. She had two fillings, one on the top and one on the bottom.

In Miss Williams' kindergarten there is a girl whose name is Cindy Timmins. She says her dad pushes her real high in the swing. She also has a new tooth coming in.

Mrs. Benson's third grade class won the contest in the library drawing. Teddy Johnston and Aimee Rochette sold the most tickets so they got to draw the names. The people that won are Cathy Hickey; she won the broiler or "oven toaster" that was first prize. Claudia Delp won an oil painting which was second prize. Keyna Kerekes won a candle and a small oil painting which was third prize. They don't know when they're having their pizza party yet though.

In Mrs. Williams' second grade class, Andy Burkley fell off the tire and broke his wrist. He fell face first and broke his glasses. Mrs. Sloan took him to his dad's office and his dad took him to Mercy Hospital.

India

Mrs. McEvers' fourth grade class is studying India for social studies. Mr. Fritschle came to show us some things about India because he was raised in India. He showed us some spice that was called curry. He brought it in to show what they had on their rice and other foods. He let us have a sample of it. It was hot to us but not to him and his wife. His wife put on a sari to show us what women had to wear when they wanted to go on the streets or to stores. Women couldn't show their faces to any other man. By Lisa Mier and Amy LaGrow, 4th grade.

In Appreciation

Mrs. Ann Doty and the participants of the "Jump for Heart" would like to express their appreciation to Mrs. Jeanie Sloan, the Avalanche, WGRY, WQON, McDonalds, the sponsors and to all the people who helped make our "Jump for Heart" a success.

Participate in Rotation Program

EAST LANSING—Two Grayling veterinarians are the first practitioners to participate in a new clinical rotation program offered by Michigan State University's College of Veterinary Medicine.

The clinical rotation program helps practitioners keep pace with rapidly changing developments in veterinary medicine through "hands-on" learning in an academic setting. Practitioners may select any of 21 clerkships that are part of the college's professional D.V.M. curriculum. Specialty areas range from dairy herd health to clinical pathology to zoo and wildlife medicine.

Drs. Casler and Mesack are both graduates of MSU's College of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. Casler in 1955 and Dr. Mesack in 1973.

New Tax Credits for Michigan Homeowners and Renters

By State Rep. Ralph Ostling

Michigan homeowners and renters who failed to file a property tax credit for 1977 and 1978, may still do so.

A new law (Public Act 517 of 1980) extends the filing deadline for claiming property tax credits and city income tax credits from two years to four years.

Many people were not aware of the state's property tax credit program, and have failed to file for a credit for 1977 and 1978. This new law, which took effect last week, will allow these persons to claim the property tax relief to which they are entitled for 1977, 1978, and 1979.

People are eligible for a credit even if they don't owe any state income tax and even if they don't have to file an income tax return.

The new legislation was signed into law after the 1980 income tax forms were printed. As a result, the forms incorrectly state that it is too late to file for property tax credits for 1977 and 1978. Forms for claiming property tax credits are available from the Michigan Department of Treasury offices. Property tax credit forms for 1980 are available at many government offices.

Under the property tax credit program, no person over age 65 will pay more than three and a half percent of their household income in local property taxes. Seniors with incomes under $6,000 receive more generous credits.

Persons under age 65 also receive a property tax credit if their property taxes exceed three and a half percent of their income. However, no refund or credit can exceed $1,200 per year.

Renters are eligible for a credit if their rent exceeds 17 percent of their income.

The property tax credit will provide over $500 million in property tax relief this year, up some $100 million over last year.

Welfare Reform Eases Caseload Crunch:

Under a new state law, thousands of Michigan's former welfare recipients have found jobs and have been taken off the welfare rolls, and new sanctions against unqualified applicants are easing the number of new cases, according to initial figures received from the Department of Social Services. Through the successful work-incentive welfare program over 12,775 general assistance cases have been closed since October, 1980. This is an increase of over 500 percent over a year ago.

The law that went into effect last fall requires that each person applying for general assistance be offered either public service employment, job training, job placement in the private sector, or vocational education. If the applicant refuses to work towards his eligibility, he is denied general assistance for three months.

"Opponents of the law thought it would not work, because of Michigan's high unemployment and a general lack of jobs. Not only is it working better than we anticipated, but we are finding out that there are indeed plenty of jobs out there that need to be filled," according to State Representative Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon) the sponsor of the reform law.

John T. Dempsey, Director of the Department of Social Services, explained that "Those who have the need and have shown the willingness to accept employment or participate in work relief are not hurt by the sanction policy. Those who refuse available work, on the other hand, should be sanctioned. We must direct our limited resources toward the most needy."

Since the program began in October, over 3,500 people have found private employment or have been placed in public service jobs under the new program, according to Dempsey. During the same period, nearly 10,000 people who applied for general assistance became ineligible because they refused to follow the work requirements of the new law.

Editor's Mailbox

Dear Editor:

Several people asked after the district tournament who they could write to about the quality of the officiating both last year and this year. Officials are assigned by the Michigan High School Athletic Association and not by the host school. So, anyone who wishes to may write to the Director, M.H.S.A.A., 1019 Trowbridge Rd., East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

The two officials that handled the final game were Ray Roberts; the smaller, light haired man; and Jere Chaffin, the larger dark haired man.

Thank you,

A Viking Fan

Independent Basketball Results

The Grayling House Saints won their sixth game in a row and moved into a first place tie with Hillman by defeating a taller Hillman team 101-96.

The two top teams in the Lewiston Independent Basketball league battled to a 46-46 halftime tie as Mike Kucharek canned a 20-foot baseline shot with four seconds left in the half.

Hillman outscored Grayling 10-2 in the first two minutes of the second half but Grayling came quickly back. A breakaway lay-up by Steve Houlton finally gave Grayling the lead with ten minutes to go and four straight baskets by Gerry St. Germain pushed the Grayling lead to ten.

The Grayling offense clicked well then with Jim Tobin hitting from the point, St. Germain working the middle, and Kucharek and Craig Hinkle hitting from the sides.

St. Germain led Grayling with 25 points. Tobin scored 20 points, Kucharek hit for 18, and Hinkle had 12.

Mike Christman scored nine points, Butch Hayes scored eight, Bruce Burkett and Dale Papendick hit four points apiece, and Houlton added two.

The golf course is bare! Well, it looks that way, but one of the members informed me last night that there is still snow on some of the fairways. Anybody No. 1 out there yet? Wednesday morning women, mark your calendar for April 28!

In order to celebrate Marti Nowak's birthday, their son, Bill Nowak and wife and children, Beth and John, of Traverse City were here Friday to treat their parents to dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Nielson and family were in Vero Beach, Fla. vacationing for two weeks with their parents. They also took the children to Disneyworld.

Juntilla, Jeff Kortes and Scott Hamlin hit for four apiece and Ted Methner added two.

Roscommon's scrappy 5'9" guard, Todd Fuller, led all scorers with 22 points and sophomore Craig Townsend added 19.

On Wednesday against Tawas, the Vikes swept past the Braves, 85-58, led by Roach who netted 28 points to lead all scorers.

Brad Trenary had a fine night with 20 points as Grayling netted 35 field goals and 15 of 22 foul attempts to dominate the contest.

Schriber led Tawas with 22 points and Dunn hit double figures with 10.

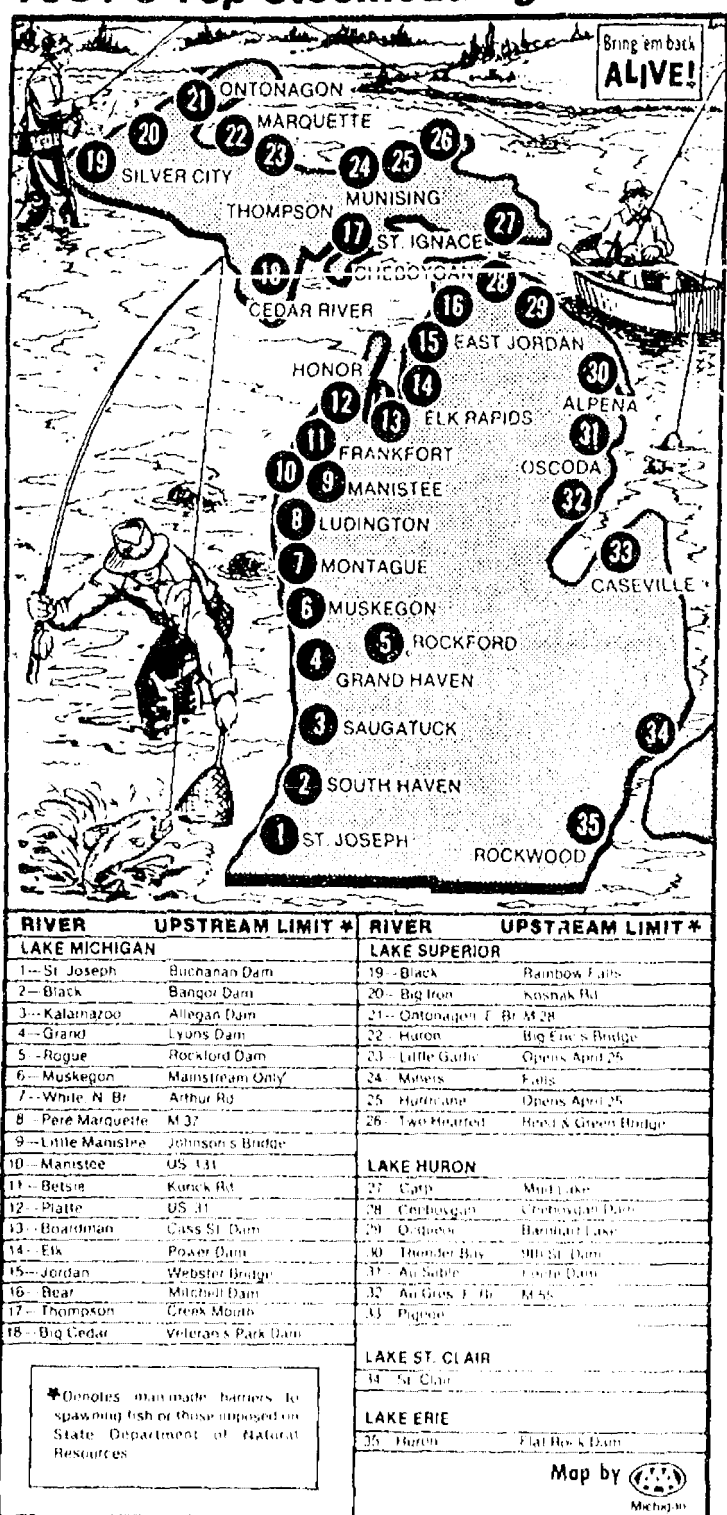

Friday the Vikes looked good again, wiping out Whittemore-Prescott, 86-58 in a game that saw all the players get into the action and everybody scored.

Roach again led the way with 22 and Batway tossed in twelve markers. DeBover and Paulik led the Cardinals with 12 and 10 points respectively.

The Vikings ended the year with a splendid 17-5 mark for the second year in a row, and Hayes, in looking to the future, said the squad will have a number of seasoned veterans returning and predicted fine basketball years for the seasons to come.

Ferrigan Advances In Freestyle

High School wrestling may be over for the season but not for Tim Ferrigan.

There is still Freestyle wrestling and Tim participated in his first meet of the season at Olivet College last Saturday, where over three hundred kids from all over the Lower Peninsula came to compete.

With a total of thirty nine in his weight class, Tim had to wrestle eight times and had two byes. Winning all eight gave Tim first place in his weight class (132 pounds) and the opportunity to go to the Central National Freestyle Wrestling meet to be held March 27th and 28th at Madison, Wisconsin.

Jeff Knight and Joe Ferrigan also attended the meet. They did not have such good luck, but did get some valuable experience. A terrific job was done by all three. Good luck Tim at the Nationals.

JUMP ROPE FOR HEART—96 students participated in the Middle & High School's Jump Rope For Heart on March 4, 1981.

The event was sponsored by the Michigan Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation to promote the benefits of physical education. A total of $1,730.04 has been pledged to participants in the event and when collected will be given to the Michigan Heart Association to combat heart and blood vessel diseases. ### News of Good Things Growing...

Among the good things growing in Michigan right now are 124,000 sheep and lambs, according to the January 1, 1981 inventory of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The value is $9.3 million, up four percent from a year ago.

With St. Patrick's Day approaching, it's appropriate to talk about lamb, since the Irish raise a lot of sheep, and are experts in using both the wool and the meat.

Traveling in Ireland a few years ago, much of the scenery was reminiscent of the rolling hill country of southern Michigan, but in the Emerald Isle those hills are dotted with pasturing sheep. As you drive through the countryside, you often find your way carefully through flocks crowding onto the road. Lambs, separated from their ewes, bleat plaintively until reunited. It's a charming scene, but it doesn't diminish your appetite for lamb served at dinner in a country inn or hotel.

The Irish serve many delicious lamb dishes, including curried lamb. Curried foods are traditional in India, and I suppose were brought home to Ireland by men who served in the British India regiments many years ago.

We usually buy a leg of lamb to roast, then use the leftovers for curried lamb. It's a case of the second time around being better than the first, I think, so I'd like to share this favorite recipe with you.

In a saucepan, melt 3 tablespoons butter and add 1 scant teaspoon of curry powder. Add 1 cup of diced onion, 1/2 cup diced celery, 2 sliced medium-sized apples (all good Michigan products, you'll note). Saute until tender, remove. Brown lightly in the same pan 2 cups diced cooked lamb, remove. Into pan juices, stir 1 tablespoon flour, gradually add about 1 cup beef broth. When sauce is thickened, add meat, vegetables and apples, heat through. Check seasoning, add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Serves four.

FACT:

Because of "sheep" interest in fine wools and lamb chops, Michigan had 20% more sheep to count last year. The industry added $7,000,000 to our state's economy.

District Court

The following appeared before Judge Francis L. Walsh in 83rd District Court last week:

Mark Steven Cook, 20, Grayling, was bound over the Circuit Court on two charges, the first, breaking and entering an unoccupied building, the second, conspiracy to commit breaking & entering. A $3,000 cash/surety bond was set.

Carol Atkinson, 25, Grayling was bound over to Circuit Court on two charges, the first, breaking and entering an unoccupied building, the second, conspiracy to commit breaking and entering. A $1,000 personal bond was set.

David Eugene Hicks, 22, Frederic, waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court on charges of larceny by conversion and larceny of property of a value over $100. A $5,000 personal bond was set.

William Eugene Earl, 36, Roscommon, pled guilty to a charge of impaired driving and was fined $255 or 14 days in jail. The defendant pled guilty to a second charge of larceny of property of a value under $100 and was fined $85 or 10 days in jail.

Jeffery Scott Riker, 20, Grayling, pled guilty to a charge of unlawful use of marijuana and was fined $205 or 30 days in jail.

James Walter Collen, 41, Grayling, pled guilty to a DUI charge and was fined $305 or 30 days in jail. His license was restricted for 90 days except to drive to and from and during the course of his employment.

Robert Eugene Clark, 56, Holt, pled guilty to a charge of impaired driving and was fined $255 or 14 days in jail.

James Kenneth Wiltse, 43, Saginaw, pled guilty to a charge of impaired driving and was fined $255 or 14 days in jail.

John Lowell Gugin, 18, Roscommon, pled guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and was fined $85 or 10 days in jail.

Austin H. Dalius, 48, Lansing, pled guilty to a charge of being a disorderly person by intoxication in a public place and endangering others. He was fined $105 or 10 days in jail.

Raymond E. Davis, 19, Shepherd, pled guilty to a charge of driving while his license was suspended. He was sentenced to three days in jail and fined $85 or an additional 10 days.

Brett Stockton, 17, Grayling, pled guilty to a charge of assault and battery and was placed on probation for six months.

Oil Recycling Workshop Here Mar. 12

Grayling will be the site Thursday, March 12, 1981 for a regional workshop on oil recycling, according to Dave Jasperse, coordinator for the West Michigan Environmental Action Council (WMEAC).

The workshop will be held on Thursday, March 12, 1981, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at Grayling's Holiday Inn.

The statewide program, involving 26 communities will promote oil recycling and establish conveniently located, used oil collection sites throughout Michigan. Service stations, garages, car dealerships and other suitable locations will serve as collection centers.

"The program is geared for the do-it-yourself oil changer," Jasperse said. "Individuals who change their own motor oil dump over 20 million gallons of reusuable crankcase oil into landfills, sewers and empty lots. This equals 400,000 barrels of oil that are thrown away each year."

"We hope to encourage these motorists to stop polluting ground and surface water and start conserving our non-renewable energy resources," he added.

The statewide program is sponsored by WMEAC and is modeled after a Kent County program initiated in 1979.

Levin To Hold Service Hours

ALPENA—U.S. Senator Carl Levin (D-Michigan) announced that a member of his regional office here will be holding hours in Grayling from 2 to 3 p.m., March 20, in the Jury Room of the County Building.

"I hope that area residents will take a few minutes to stop by and talk with my staff if they have a problem involving an agency of the federal government or if they would like to make their views known to me," Senator Levin said.

Area residents who are unable to attend the constituent service hours may contact Senator Levin's regional office in Alpena, 106 Water Street, Alpena, MI 49707. (517) 356-6122.

their reaction to the proposal, although in a December letter to the Chamber of Commerce, a DNR spokesman said that reviving of the raceways to hold fish was not consistent with the department's overall objective of decommissioning the facility. Meanwhile, local support to save the facility has been gathering since last fall when the Beautification Committee offered to help the DNR clean and spruce up the area. The subject was again the topic of discussion at the Economic Adjustment Strategy Committee's most recent meeting last Thursday.

"Our overall objective is to preserve the facility," says C of C Executive Duanne Swift, who hopes that groups like Trout Unlimited and Michigan United Conservation Clubs might also be willing to join the crusade.

The fish hatchery is steeped in rich Grayling history and tradition. Records show that in 1914, Rasmus Hanson and his wife, Margrethe, deeded the 20 acre site to the Grayling Fish Hatchery Club, which, according to local historian Elmer Fenton, was made up of 125 members from around the state.

Stock in the club sold for $10 a share. Rasmus Hanson was President and Marius Hanson served as Treasurer of the organization, whose overall aim was to "propagate brook trout and better fishing" in the area.

In 1928 the property was deeded to the State of Michigan for $10,000, leading to the establishment of the Department of Natural Resources' fish hatchery operation.

The site was used for years to raise trout for stocking both the AuSable and Manistee Rivers and attracted throngs of tourists hoping to get a glimpse of the trophy trout held in the holding ponds.

But the operation was closed when AuSable River water temperatures began to climb, making it impossible to raise healthy fish at the facility. Since its closing, the building has served only as a DNR Field Office, the raceways and ponds sitting idle and propagating nothing more than fond memories for those who recall the popularity of its heyday.

Soil Conservation Scrapbook Contest

THEME: Soil Gives Life

1981 Youth Soil Conservation is open to all students in Crawford and Roscommon counties in grades 3 thru 8.

The following must appear on scrapbook:

1. Name, age & mailing address.
2. School, grade & teachers name.

All pictures, drawings, charts and graphs shall have appropriate headings, explanations and/or captions.

The soil is one of our most essential resources; in fact, many of the living things on this planet depend on a thin layer of productive soil for food, fiber, even life itself. Scrapbook contents should describe the relationship between living things and the soil—especially, how we humans fit into this relationship.

Awards will be given at the local level; with 1st and 2nd places being submitted to the State for Michigan-wide competition.

Please turn your scrapbook in to the Crawford-Roscommon Soil Conservation District office before March 31st so that they may be submitted to the District's conservation education committee for judging.

Winners will be notified and invited to the Soil Conservation District Annual Meeting in July.

Scrapbooks will be returned to school in the fall.

Call the Soil Conservation office for details at 275-5231 or The Centre Building, 409 Lake Street, Roscommon.

Editor's Mailbox

Dear Editor:

Is this the time to build a New Middle School in Grayling?? This is the big question facing all of us.

Has the school board looked into the economy of this area, and Michigan? With businesses leaving Grayling, people selling homes and moving, and many more homes for sale in the area; will there be enough property taxpayers left to shoulder the added burden of $3,500,000 for a new building?

It has been brought to my attention that the existing Middle School Building has been neglected for the last three years to a rundown condition purposely to try to prove the need for a new building.

Upon inspecting the Old school, the building was found to be structurally sound with many good features including a good heating system. Why won't the Board of Education listen to the taxpayers plea of presenting a Middle School Renovation program on the ballot in April?

In the meantime, the old building must be properly maintained for the benefit of the children and teachers. If money is lacking perhaps a community effort could do the job. How much would it cost to restore classrooms to useable condition; install sound barriers, increase energy efficiency, and make our school a pride of the community?

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bollman are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Ann, to John Joseph Stosio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stosio of Rochester, Michigan.

An August wedding is planned.

The couple will both graduate from Lake Superior State College in May.

House Call: DMSO

When people ache badly enough, many of them will try almost anything to ease the pain. Some are in such great need of a remedy that they are using an industrial solvent for the relief of arthritic pain. Far-fetched as it may sound, it's common enough to warn against using it as a medication as it is sold.

The solvent is dimethyl sulfoxide, or DMSO, a product of the wood pulp industry that is sold as an industrial degreaser and solvent.

The industrial grade of DMSO is not pure enough and usually is too strong for human use. The impurities it contains can be carried with the DMSO into the tissues and enter the blood stream. What's more, DMSO can cause various forms of skin irritation and rashes.

DMSO is being studied to learn of its benefits and hazards but so far it has not been approved for human use by the Food and Drug Administration, except for the treatment of a form of urinary bladder infection. It has been reported that topical (on the skin) use of DMSO in dogs on a regular basis has resulted in eye damage.

Researchers at Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions have found that DMSO affects the immune system and warned that misuse of the product could harm the body's natural defenses. Some researchers have found that DMSO may be of benefit in laboratory animals suffering from a muscle disease called myasthenia gravis, which affects from 50,000 to 100,000 Americans, but there has not yet been adequate testing on humans.

Florida, Louisiana and Oregon have approved the use of DMSO for arthritis pain but Michigan and other states have not. FDA approval is needed before it can be sold for medicinal use.

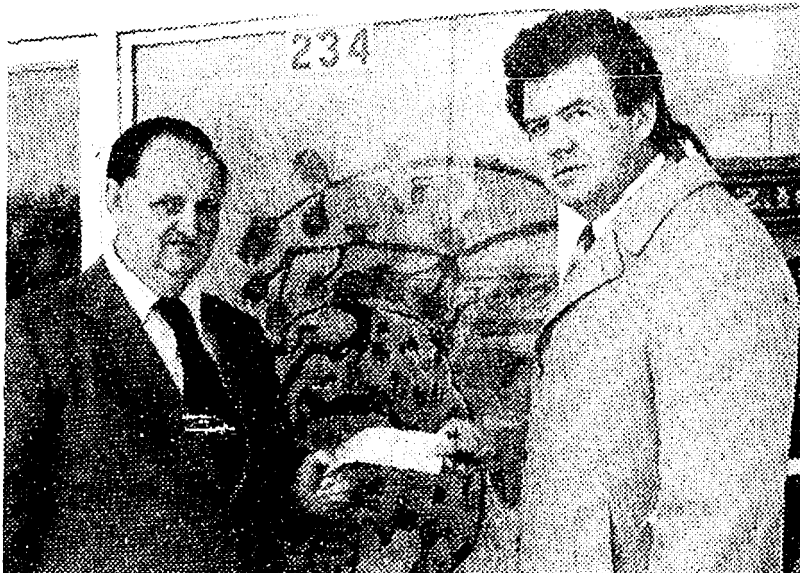

DMSO is not something new. It was discovered in 1866. In 1970 it was approved for use in veterinary medicine for topical use on horses and dogs. In 1978 a medical grade was approved for short term use in treating a form of urinary bladder inflammation. Now, however, people are buying and using industrial grade DMSO solution and the consequences could be serious.

It is not easy to bear arthritic pain while waiting for a new medical treatment, but things could be worse. If the side effects of DMSO are serious, they could add to your problems.

Shell Oil

1-10 well showed the presence of hydrocarbons in several zones totaling some 70 feet in the Niagara Reef at a depth of 4,920 to 5,302 feet, according to C.D. Sikes, Shell drilling superintendent. He said a production test of the well will be made later to determine potential daily flow rates. Production of the well will not begin until a pipeline is constructed to connect it to a central processing facility in the state forest.

The well is the first in Shell's 1981 oil and gas development program in the state forest. Drilling began again this year following a compromise agreement reached in late 1980 between oil companies, environmentalist groups and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Shell handles oil and gas operations in the state forest for a three company group which also includes Amoco Production Company and Northern Michigan Exploration Company.

Oil was first discovered in Pigeon River Country State Forest in 1970. As of 1980, five wells were operating on state lands in the state forest. Last year, they produced about 350,000 barrels of oil and 7 million cubic feet of gas. In addition, Shell discovered hydrocarbons in 1978 in the Charlton 1-11 well, but it never completed the well because of the moratorium.

Potato Facts

Potatoes produce some 4,800,000 calories an acre, or about five times as many as rice and 10 times as many as wheat, the National Geographic Society says. Another evaluation: One acre of potatoes alone could feed a family of six for a year.

Governor Predicts Michigan Needs Federal Tax Cut Plans

Warren M. Hoyt, Executive Director, MPA

Governor William G. Milliken has declared Michigan's best hope of getting out of economic difficulties is for President Reagan's tax and budget cutting plans to be enacted by Congress.

Speaking upon his return from meeting with the nation's governors and the President, Milliken said Congress just "chipping away" at the proposals will delay the state's economic recovery.

"The President intends fully to go ahead with his program and I believe in it. If there is a better plan, let's hear it," he said.

Upon Reagan's revealing of the plan before a joint session of Congress, there were concerns from some Michigan officials that the proposals could hurt several state programs, especially the mass transit plan for the Detroit area.

But Milliken said the transportation plan is still alive under some circumstances. He declined to name those circumstances, however.

The governor also said urban development action grants "still have some flexibility."

"The best thing for Michigan is to have the President's program succeed, so that we can get the jobs in this state, and bring down the high inflation and interest rates," Milliken said.

He added the President's program is a comprehensive approach, but if opponents begin to chip away at the program, that will take time and hurt its ability to help the state.

On another front, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel said the proposed education budget cuts by the President will significantly hurt education quality in Michigan, especially when viewed in light of state budget cuts forced by the economic downturn.

Runkel said he has asked U.S. Secretary of Education Terrel Bell to give Michigan special consideration and added the secretary was very receptive to Michigan problems.

Runkel said the state merits special consideration because the economic situation is not duplicated anywhere else in the country.

The state's top school administrator said he was particularly concerned about the impact the cutbacks will have on urban schools, as funds are not only cut 20 percent across the board but are also changed for a system of targeting the funds to specific programs (such as vocational education, the educationally disadvantaged, etc.) to one of block grants.

Because urban schools receive more benefit from many of the targeted programs, they will probably be hurt more by the cuts, he said.

The 20 percent cut will cost K-12 schools $45.4 million and public and private colleges would lose $110 million.

Among the impacts of the cuts, he said, are lunch programs cut by $26.6 million, compensatory education by $25 million, special education losing $7 million and similar size cuts occurring in vocational education.

Runkel said the cuts need not affect each program in the amount federal funds are reduced in the specific program area because the state would have flexibility to reallocate the reduced level of fund that would come in a block grant.

He concluded he was not particularly opposed to the block grant approach proposed by Reagan administration, but is concerned about the combined effect of that approach and budget cuts.

He noted the state has already reduced its funding for specific programs by $140 million.

Girl Scout Week Proclaimed

March 8-14 is Girl Scout Week, marking the founding of Girl Scouting on March 12, 1912.

A proclamation designating the week in Grayling was signed March 7th by Mayor Sandy Thompson.

Noting that the theme for Girl Scout Week is "Girl Scouting 1980s Style," the Mayor said, "...this organization...looking to the future...not content with the safe and sure, the tried and true but aware of the changing needs and priorities of our technological age, has kept itself flexible and contemporaneous."

He continued, "The future of our city depends upon our young people—how they are able to recognize, form and develop their talents and abilities to meet not only their own personal goals but the needs of society as a whole. Girl Scouts in particular are filling a tremendous need by helping 'gear up' today's girls and women to meet the impact of tomorrow's technologies as they assimilate the changes which have already occurred. It is a role the organization understands well, having been in the forefront in contributing to the betterment of our community for so many years."

"I urge the support of all Grayling citizens in the work that this organization is doing to improve life in Grayling for now and for the future."

Getting Back Welfare

Fraud Money:

By State Rep. Ralph Ostling

Legislation designed to give counties an incentive to collect restitution in welfare fraud cases was introduced in the House of Representatives today.

The proposed measure, which I sponsored, would encourage counties to make sure that court-ordered restitutions were paid after a person was convicted of welfare fraud. To encourage repayment, counties would be allowed to keep 15 percent of the restitution.

When welfare fraud or abuse has occurred, the primary goal is to recoup funds from the state. I believe this bill provides the financial incentive for counties to continue to prosecute welfare fraud cases, for judges to order restitution and for counties to make sure that the restitution is collected.

Overpayments involving less than $500 will be classified as "misdemeanors" and handled by the state Department of Social Services officials, who can administratively recoup the overpayment. Cases involving overpayments of more than $500 will be termed "felonies" and given to local prosecutors. The punitive limits set down in the bill are consistent with the current state criminal code.

Should the local prosecutor decide not to prosecute a case because of the difficulty in proving fraud, the DSS office could still begin an administrative recoupment procedure.

The state DSS has been moving in a positive direction over the past year in recouping funds from welfare fraud or abuse cases. This bill will give local prosecutors a reason to continue with the progress that has been made in returning to the state tax dollars which have been fraudulently obtained.

The amount of restitution being ordered by DSS officials has dramatically increased over the past 24 months. About $1.6 million in restitution was ordered during all of fiscal year 1979-80, and nearly $480,000 was ordered to be repaid in October, 1980 alone.

DSS Director D. John Dempsey said his department has been "supporting the concept behind this type of legislation for some time."

I agree with Dr. Dempsey the bill strikes a real balance between prosecution and recoupment of tax dollars while providing incentive for counties to get funds to perform this needed function for the state.

The restitution will likely be repaid by a reduction of weekly or monthly payments until the overpayment is erased.

Major Unemployment Law Changes Take Effect

On Monday, March 2, many of the state's more than 350,000 unemployed workers who are receiving unemployment benefits received a raise, as major changes in the state's unemployment insurance program take effect.

Some of the major changes, which were passed by the state legislature late last year and signed into law by Governor Milliken on December 30, 1980, affect:

- weekly unemployment benefit payments (generally increasing them);
- minimum requirements to qualify for benefits; and
- requalification requirements for those who either quit or are fired for misconduct from their jobs.

Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) Director S. Martin Taylor said that the law changes will increase a worker's weekly unemployment benefit rate to 70 percent of his or her after-tax earnings—up to a maximum of 58 percent of the state average weekly wage. Taylor explained that the new maximum weekly benefit rate in 1981 will be $182. The new weekly minimums will be $41 for those who are single and $43 for those who are married.

Under the old law the benefit rate was determined by the worker's average weekly wage and the number of dependents claimed. Benefits ranged from a minimum of $16 per week to a maximum $136 per week for a worker with four or more dependents.

Taylor said his agency will review all unemployment claims, beginning Monday, and adjust them to reflect the new rates. In no case will a worker receive an amount less than what s/he receives under the old law, he said.

To compute the new weekly benefit rates, the MESC will determine each claimant's average weekly wage after taxes. Taylor said the after tax earnings will be calculated by subtracting from an individual's average weekly wage a reasonable approximation of the weekly amount required to be withheld by the employer based on dependents and exemptions for income taxes and for old age and survivor's disability taxes.

In early February, MESC began collecting from new and existing claimants information about their marital status, dependents and exemptions to begin the process of determining new benefit rates.

Another major change in the law alters the minimum requirements for receiving unemployment benefits. The new law requires a person to work for at least 18 weeks during the 52 weeks prior to applying for benefits. During each of those weeks, the worker must earn at least $67—20 times the state's minimum hourly wage which is $3.35 an hour.

Under the old law, a worker had to work 14 weeks earning more than $25 a week within the 52-week period prior to filing a claim.

Those who voluntarily quit or are fired for misconduct, minor theft or willful destruction of property face disqualification from benefits.

If a worker quits or is fired, the only way s/he can receive benefits is to go back to work, Taylor said. According to the new law a worker must work and earn an amount that is either:

- seven times the claimant's potential weekly benefit rate with the employer involved in the disqualification; or
- seven times the state's minimum hourly wage times 40 (7 x $3.35 x 40 = $938), whichever is less.

Under the old law, a worker could requalify for jobless benefits after quitting or being discharged for misconduct, by serving a 13-week requalification period and losing 13 weeks of benefits. If they were fired for minor theft or willful destruction or property, the penalty was for 12 weeks.

Other major changes in the state unemployment law allow a new worker a 30-day trial period; affect eligibility for benefits when a misconduct discharge is changed to a disciplinary layoff; and exempt students from a waiver of seeking work.

To implement the law changes, Taylor said his agency launched a massive training program to instruct MESC staff about the changes and their resulting impacts on agency procedures. The MESC also began updating forms and informational booklets to employers and claimants, and started collecting additional information from claimants.

A pamphlet describing the law's major changes is now available to the public through MESC offices statewide.

That means you'll have a really soft touch. And speaking of soft, the cost of having Touch Calling won't be at all hard to handle since it's surprisingly inexpensive.

What about colors and styles? You're in luck, because we've got a vast, vast selection of both. To add a nice touch to your home or office. Your desk, your wall or your night table. In fact, you might want to think about putting Touch Calling in all those places at the same time. Because it'll cost you less that way.

So if dialing the phone happens not to be one of your cherished chores, consider Touch Calling.

After all, why have a hard time when you can have a soft touch instead?

Whitey:
I was at the School Board meeting last Monday, March 2, 1981, and I learned from Mr. Paul Ierg, that the new high school doesn't have any insulation in it.

I understand there have been a lot of energy studies on the existing Middle School, and that the new proposed Middle School will exceed current insulation standards.

Why haven't there been any studies done on the High School? Why was the building built without a concern for saving heating & cooling costs? Why did the roof almost cave in a couple of years ago? Why were restrooms built that are now closed or locked and evidently unnecessary?

Why didn't someone figure out how many more busses the school would need before the high school was built outside of town? How many more busses will be needed to transport the students to the new proposed middle school? Gas is already prohibitive, maintenance, parts, repairs, drivers insurance etc are all increasing in costs. As I understand it the proposed 3.28 mill increase doesn't include any of the above. Where will it all end?

Since the school board doesn't know the answers, how can they arrive at conclusions & recommendations. Why aren't there enough school books to go around to all of the students?

If we can't afford preventative maintenance in our new ?? high school, existing middle school, and elementary school, and enough books for them, how can we afford the new proposed middle school?

I don't expect you to have the answers but maybe your readers or former school board members might.

I can be reached 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at 348-4511.

Any input will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you,

Editor's Mailbox

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank all the people who supported our petition drive to have the coming new school proposal include renovation of the middle school on the ballot as an option to going in debt for the next 30 years for a new school.

Quite obviously, judging from the hundreds of signatures, the taxpayers feel they are far from ready for additional tax burdens, finding it hard to cope with the present load, much less the increased inflationary assessment handed out for 81.

For those of you who are wondering what has become of our joint efforts, you should know the school board must approve, and I'm sorry to say, that rather than deal with reason and rationality, they, in their infinite wisdom, are in unanimous agreement it's to our best interest to be saddled with millions of dollars in debts our grandchildren will have to help pay for.

Our only hope is to beat them at the polls, as many times as it takes, until such a time that we and the rest of the country are in an improved financial condition, so we can bear the burden.

Do not let yourself be led down the primrose path like a flock of sheep by the anticipated flood of balanced-up cost figures for renovation. Just remember; someone plans to make money, and there is more profit in building a new school, than in renovation!!!

Decide for yourself just how badly deteriorated the middle school is. Get a concerned group together, go through the middle school just as we did and see if you don't agree that every day neglect, over a period of years, and not old age, has put the middle school in its present condition. By the school boards own admission, the foundation is sound, and a building is only as good as its foundation.

If you are not a registered voter, do it now while there is still time. In the meantime, let's hope you discover oil in your back yard, or have a rich and ailing relative. If the new school gets voted in at this time, you may need them both.

Allen C. Carr

Editor's Mailbox

March 4, 1981
Dear Whitey and Citizens of Crawford County:

With all the talk and discussion concerning the construction of a new middle school, the merits of the Crawford-AuSable school system should also be discussed.

Does a building, new or old, have an affect in the education of our young? The answer is NO! The recent release of Michigan State testing for 4th, 7th and 10th grade in reading and mathematics show that 17% of our young are receiving a satisfactory education in reading, 83% of our young are not. 100% of our children are receiving an unsatisfactory education in mathematics.

Test results: a score of 75% is satisfactory;

4th grade Reading 71%
Math 72%
7th grade Reading 77%*
Math 59%
10th grade Reading 73%
Math 58%

Do we need construction of a new school, or do we need new school administrators, teachers and school board? I think you can easily determine the answer.

Sincerely,

John Medler

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Sheep and shepherds are mentioned more than two hundred times in the Bible. Economically, that reflects the importance of sheep raising as a means of livelihood in Bible times. Religiously, it suggests that men saw in the pastoral scene vivid implications of religious experience.

Probably the best known passage in the Old Testament is the Twenty-third Psalm. Among the most beloved parables of Jesus in the New Testament are the Good Shepherd and the Lost Sheep. In these and many other verses of scripture the shepherd and his sheep are seen as symbols of God and man. Particularly they emphasize God's faithfulness to us and our dependence on God.

Sheep raising is not the heart of our economy today. But discovering our spiritual needs and realizing God's readiness to fulfill them — that is the religious quest to which the Bible continues to call men.
